

AMD Engineering announces purchase of company

April 24, 2020

Cory Dulin and Jimmy McDaniel, owners of AMD Engineering, LLC, recently announced the purchase of Stevens Surveying Company.

AMD Engineering has provided consulting civil engineering services since January 2006. Stevens Surveying Company, founded by Norris Stevens, RPLS in 2005, and their entire staff have joined AMD.

Norris Stevens has been a Registered Professional Land Surveyor for 35 years and is a leader in the surveying profession in Texas. Norris also brings 32-year industry veteran Brent Burrows, RPLS and 12 other survey personnel with him to AMD.

Norris and his staff bring a significant amount of surveying experience and horsepower to AMD. Along with Norris and his staff, AMD now also has all of the files from Wilson Surveying Company (1945-2018) and Robert Smith Surveying (1990-2012) that were acquired by Stevens Surveying Company. AMD Engineering began its surveying department in 2010 and looks forward to the future with the experience that Norris and his staff brings.

AMD Engineering, LLC specializes in residential and commercial land development services and provides all types of surveying in West Texas.

Link to original press release:

<https://www.lubbockonline.com/business/20200424/business-bulletins-amd-engineering-announces-purchase-of-company-albertsons-pledges-donations>