

BCC Merges with Heath & Lineback

October 22, 2021

We're excited to announce a strategic merger that will expand our services in the Southeast United States.

BCC has acquired Heath and Lineback Engineers based in Atlanta, Georgia.

"H&L is the premier mid-size transportation engineering firm in the Georgia market, with offices in Marietta and Carrollton, as well as Easley, South Carolina."

– John Heath, President, Heath & Lineback

The combined entity will have 13 locations, with 385 employees, of which 142 are professional engineers, and will continue offering cutting-edge Engineering services to our community.

Together with BCC's strong presence in Florida, Texas, and Puerto Rico, we are taking a significant step towards our goal of becoming the preeminent transportation engineering firm in the Southeast United States.

Culturally, we share strong values and are focused on providing the best opportunities for our employees and continued engineering excellence to our customers."

– Jose Muñoz, President, BCC Engineering
