

Surveying Solutions of Youngsville, NC joins Bolton & Menk, Inc.

April 5, 2022

Bolton & Menk, Inc., a leading provider of public infrastructure consulting services in the Upper Midwest, announced today that it has acquired Surveying Solutions of Youngsville, NC. The acquisition expands Bolton & Menk's geographic reach and brings its innovative product and service offerings to Surveying Solutions' well-established footprint in the Southeast while enhancing the ability to provide surveying services in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia. With an office in Youngsville, North Carolina, Surveying Solutions provides surveying and UAV-related services.

"This acquisition is part of Bolton & Menk's growth strategy to expand our client-focused approach to new reaches of the United States," said Bolton & Menk's Chief Executive Officer, Bradley DeWolf. "Surveying Solutions is a highly-respected surveying services firm in North Carolina. We feel a close fit from a values and culture perspective and couldn't be more excited to bring our teams together to serve our clients and continue building safe, sustainable, and beautiful communities."

The Surveying Solutions acquisition demonstrates Bolton & Menk's commitment to clients and communities by identifying and acquiring a firm that was founded on the same principles and emphasizes a client-first approach. Established in 1999 as a surveying services firm, collaboration has been the key to their success throughout the Carolinas and Virginia.

Bolton & Menk, Inc. was founded in 1949 by two hard working Midwesterners. Their commitment to communities has remained throughout their 72-year history. Their goals are simple – make progress by listening to what people want, finding the best solutions for their needs, and treating them right. This acquisition increases Bolton & Menk's employee base to over 750 engineers, planners, landscape architects, surveyors, and other professional staff supporting public and private infrastructure for clients and communities throughout Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, Wisconsin, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, and Colorado and industrial environmental clients throughout the United States.

Surveying Solutions is now part of the Bolton & Menk, Inc. Team, located at 307 East Main Street in Youngsville, NC.
