

Charles Taylor Expands U.S. Engineering and Technical Services Practice with the Acquisition of SBSA, Inc.

September 18, 2020

LONDON--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Charles Taylor, a provider of services and technology solutions to the global insurance market, announced today that it has acquired SBSA, Inc. (Solutions Before, Solutions After), a full-service engineering and architectural firm. Headquartered in Golden, Colorado, SBSA is licensed throughout the United States.

"The addition of SBSA significantly expands and strengthens Charles Taylor's engineering capabilities in the U.S.," said Rob Brown, Group CEO, Charles Taylor. "This acquisition aligns with our Group-wide strategy to grow the range of services we offer and to strengthen our technology and capabilities, so that we can do more for our existing clients and reach a broader client base. SBSA allows us to provide high-quality broad-based engineering and technical support to our clients, from design, testing, and repairs, to forensic investigations and litigation support."

SBSA delivers a wide range of expertise, including architectural, civil, and structural engineering, construction management, building envelope repair, performance testing, forensic analyses, and litigation support. The firm works primarily with clients in the construction, legal and insurance sectors, specializing in forensic engineering, construction management, new and re-design of properties.

Vince Cole, CEO, CT Adjusting and Technical Services U.S., said, "SBSA engineers are recognized experts and provide us with the expanded engineering support that we believe will enrich our client offering and service." He further added, "For insurance clients who work with Charles Taylor Adjusting, SBSA will offer the consistency and efficiency of a one-stop shop, with the independence of a separate forensic engineering business."

SBSA joins the Charles Taylor team of more than 3,000 professionals around the world. SBSA's clients will have access to Charles Taylor's full suite of global claims management, technical services, and technology solutions.

"Joining Charles Taylor provides our clients with access to a multitude of additional resources, in addition to decades of technical experience from industry experts whose skills complement our existing capabilities," said Edward Fronapfel, P.E., Owner of SBSA. "We believe Charles Taylor's commitment to high quality and growth in the U.S. will greatly benefit our clients and allow us to better serve their needs."

Link to original press release:

http://www.businessnorth.com/daily_briefing/wagner-zaun-architecture-joins-lhb-inc/article_0326b732-fdb7-11ea-8107-63c8c845b60b.html