

Maser Consulting to Expand Engineering Business Under Colliers International

March 9, 2020

Maser Consulting, a national multi-discipline engineering design firm, is pleased to announce it will be entering into an agreement to partner with Colliers International, a leading global commercial real estate services and investment management firm. Maser Consulting's senior leadership will remain as significant shareholders of the business under Colliers' unique partnership model. Expected to close in the second quarter of 2020, Maser Consulting will be re-branded as Colliers Engineering Services by the first quarter of 2021.

"Our partnership with Colliers will be the first of its kind in our industry and the next step in the evolution of our business," said Richard M. Maser, Maser Founder and Chairman. "Colliers' enterprising culture, decentralized management style and proven track record were important factors in choosing our strategic partner."

The addition of the engineering component to Colliers' existing service lines promises to create a unique and positive environment, positioning both entities to better meet strategic growth opportunities. Although Maser Consulting's name will be changing, their services, systems and dedication to clients will remain the same.
