

Portland-based PlanB Consultancy Joins Cumming

July 13, 2020

Late last week, Cumming's leadership team announced that Portland-based PlanB Consultancy joined with the firm to expand its capabilities both throughout the Pacific Northwest and on an international level.

Founded in 2006, PlanB Consultancy focuses on providing value-added cost management and comprehensive quantity surveying services for some of the world's most significant chip manufacturers and data centers, as well as numerous other high-tech facilities.

"PlanB's strong quantity surveying and project controls focus aligns perfectly with Cumming's capabilities and broadens our reach in this critical, high-growth sector," said Derek Hutchison, president at Cumming. "The natural cultural match with the PlanB team allows us to stay true to our core values while executing our robust long-term growth strategy."

PlanB Consultancy will continue to operate under the day-to-day leadership of its current executive team.

"Partnering with Cumming allows PlanB Consultancy to provide our current high-tech clients with additional specialized expertise through its dedicated team of mechanical, electrical, and other specialists, while at the same time providing our team members with new opportunities to expand their careers," stated Euan Pollock, managing partner at PlanB Consultancy. "We have long held the belief that Cumming would be the ideal strategic partner based on our cultural alignment, the firm's outstanding international reputation, and its focus on being a true owner's advocate."

With this latest merger, Cumming has more than 950 professionals across 30 U.S. offices, as well as five strategic international locations.
