

ECS Acquires Atlanta Environmental Management, Inc.

January 6, 2020

Engineering Consulting Services (ECS) is pleased to announce the acquisition of Atlanta Environmental Management, Inc. (AEM) whose office will now become a part of ECS Southeast, LLP and a member of the ECS Group of Companies.

“We are excited to announce that AEM has joined our team. This addition increases our technical depth and senior leadership as well as brings new specialty environmental capabilities to the Southeast. ECS will now have offices in four locations to serve the dynamic Atlanta market,” says Stephen Gosselin, PG, President, ECS Southeast, LLP.

AEM specializes in environmental consulting services under various regulatory programs. The acquisition became effective in January 2020. AEM will continue to provide integrated engineering services and technical support for their clients.

“AEM is extremely pleased to be joining the ECS family. With their added capabilities and office locations, we will not only be better able to serve our current clients, but assist ECS in expanding in the Southeast,” said Janet Hart, President of AEM.
