

ECS Acquires Solar Testing Laboratories

March 3, 2020

Engineering Consulting Services (ECS) is pleased to announce the acquisition of Solar Testing Laboratories (STL) whose Cleveland area office will now become a part of ECS Midwest, LLC and a member of the ECS Group of Companies.

“We are excited to announce that STL has joined our team. This addition increases our technical depth and senior leadership as well as brings new geographic reach to the ECS Midwest team. ECS will now have several office locations in Ohio to serve the Midwest Region,” says Brett Gitskin, PE, President, ECS Midwest, LLC.

STL specializes in geotechnical, environmental and materials testing. The acquisition became effective in February 2020. STL will continue to provide integrated engineering services and technical support for their clients.

“STL is extremely pleased to be joining the ECS family. With their added capabilities, technical depth and multiple office locations, we will not only be better able to serve our current clients, but assist ECS in expanding in the Midwest,” says Michael Kichurchak, President of STL.

Link to original press release:

<https://www.ecslimited.com/ecs-acquires-solar-testing-laboratories>