

ERM announces acquisition of M.J. Bradley & Associates LLC

March 17, 2020

ERM has completed the acquisition of M.J. Bradley & Associates LLC (MJB&A) – a specialist energy, climate change and sustainability advisory company that provides strategic policy and regulatory advice on the low carbon energy transition to the electricity and natural gas sectors along with a focus on advanced transportation initiatives in North America.

Like ERM, MJB&A strives to shape a sustainable future with the world's leading organizations. Founded in 1994 by Michael Bradley, MJB&A supports clients with energy and climate policy analysis and engagement, corporate sustainability and climate strategy, transportation and electric vehicle technologies, and natural gas strategy. An important part of MJB&A's work is the support and engagement it has with clients through the coalitions it facilitates that bring together companies and other stakeholders with common interests in order to advance mutually beneficial goals.

"As the world looks to transition to a low carbon economy, we are working side by side with industry and other leading organizations to help them navigate the challenges and opportunities this presents," said ERM Group Chief Executive Keryn James. "The acquisition of MJB&A builds on ERM's leading capability to operationalize sustainability including through our corporate sustainability and climate change services and our technical and operational air quality/climate change work. It will facilitate a step change in the services that we are able to offer to our power and energy sector clients as they strive to transform their business to thrive in a low carbon economy. ERM is focused on rapidly growing and expanding our capabilities organically and through acquisitions, so that we extend our leadership position in this space, and MJB&A is a very high-caliber addition to the ERM Group which supports this objective."

Michael Bradley, President and Founder of MJB&A, said: "We are very excited to be joining an organization of ERM's caliber and global reach. In North America, there is mounting pressure on companies to accelerate the transition to a low carbon economy and to demonstrate that they are properly managing climate-related risks and opportunities. Our new partnership will provide a powerful platform to help our clients navigate the changes ahead."
