

Christopher Brothers Has Merged With Gaskins Surveying and Engineering

October 2, 2020

The merger of these family-owned companies brings over 90 years of combined surveying and engineering experience to our clients. Both companies have deep roots in their communities and bring a history of building relationships rather than transactions. Customers will continue to receive the same great service and family approach while having access to more resources and manpower. Now, with over 100 employees, including 22 surveying crews and 4 offices, we are even better equipped to serve and respond quickly to the needs of our clients.

Combining the experience and resources of these two families, passed down from generation to generation, will further deepen our surveying roots locally and in the state of Georgia. When asked about the acquisition, CEO Brandon Hutchins commented, "It's not every day that you find a leader in another company that you feel aligned with from a quality and service standpoint. After knowing Chris and the Christopher Brothers operations, I am excited about the synergy of our families and what we will accomplish together."

Link to original press release:

<https://www.christophersurveying.com/about-us.html>