January 03, 2022

C&H Engineering and Surveying, Inc. (C&H Engineering), a civil, surveying, and structural engineering firm based in Bozeman, MT, has joined IMEG Corp.

Founded in 1994, C&H Engineering has offered geotechnical, environmental, civil, surveying, and structural services in the Gallatin Valley and surrounding areas for over 27 years, providing skillful and thorough work on a wide variety of projects including the hospitality, residential, commercial, government, and religious markets.

“We are extremely pleased to welcome C&H Engineering into our company,” said IMEG President/CEO Paul VanDuyne. “We already have an existing working relationship and by blending both firms’ civil and structural expertise with IMEG’s full-service engineering portfolio, we create a strong synergy for future growth throughout the mountain states and Pacific Northwest – allowing us to help more clients by leveraging a broader base of market and technical expertise.”

C&H Engineering’s Principal Per Hjalmarsson said his firm is thrilled to be part of IMEG and helping drive continued growth in the greater Bozeman region. “We are excited to move into this next chapter and expand our breadth of services and reach,” he said. “This merger brings together decades of experience, enhances our passion for delivering quality work, and allows us to continue developing strong client relationships across the region and beyond.”

Mr. Hjalmarsson will continue as client executive with IMEG, and the firm will operate out of its existing Bozeman office, doing business as C&H Engineering, now IMEG.
