

John M. Cruikshank Consultants Acquires Ken Okamoto & Associates

March 18, 2022

John M. Cruikshank Consultants, Inc. (JMC2) is thrilled to announce that earlier this year we acquired Ken Okamoto & Associates, Inc. (Santa Ana, CA), a structural engineering firm founded by Ken Okamoto in 1979. The 'OKAMOTO' team had established itself as one of the leading structural engineering advisers and designers to architects, contractors, and developers in the United States.

For the past 26 years, JMC2's mission has been to be a trusted and well-respected civil engineering firm that provides our clients with consistently high-quality, customized engineering services. Our acquisition of Ken Okamoto & Associates, Inc. allows us to continue our efforts in providing that high level of service and expertise while expanding to include structural engineering.

JMC2's team of licensed professionals represents decades of project experience in the commercial, residential, public works, education, hospitality, and industrial space. With the acquisition of Ken Okamoto & Associates, Inc., we now leverage some of the market's best engineers, expertise, and technology to now offer both civil and structural engineering to new and existing clientele while expanding our services into new and exciting areas such as our partnerships with Sensequake and E-Z Riser Roof Raising.

We are energized about this new chapter in our business and look forward to growing our partnerships with you while providing comprehensive engineering services.
