

System One division acquires telecommunications engineering firm

January 30, 2020

Mountain, Ltd, a division of Pittsburgh-based staffing and workforce solutions firm System One, announced Tuesday that it had acquired Level 5 Consulting Engineers.

Level 5 provides architectural and engineering services to wireless telecommunication companies. The company has offices in New Braunfels, Texas and Houston and will become Mountain, Ltd Engineering under the acquisition.

In a press release, Mountain said it wanted to acquire Level 5 to enhance its core capabilities, adding the ability to deliver structural engineering services with professional engineering licenses nationwide.

“We remain enthusiastic in our support of upgrades and maintenance to telecommunication infrastructure nationwide, particularly the rollout of 5G technologies,” System One President and CEO Troy Gregory said in a statement.

According to a spokesperson for System One, the deal closed on Dec. 31, 2019. Terms of the deal were not disclosed.
