

RICE & GARDNER CONSULTANTS JOINS PROJECT CONTROL

September 2, 2021

Project Control has announced that Rice & Gardner Consultants, Inc. has joined forces with our firm today. Based in Houston, Rice & Gardner will operate as a division of Project Control.

Led by Jim Rice, Rice & Gardner was established in 2005 with core competencies of program management and building commissioning.

Rice & Gardner is well respected in the project management and building commissioning fields due to their experienced, diverse staff and commitment to serving their clients and the Houston community. They are a great cultural fit for Project Control and the entire Raba Kistner enterprise and, as a result, will support multiple components of our firm's strategic growth plan.

As part of Project Control, Rice & Gardner staff will help grow Project Control's project management services in Houston, as well as bring expanded service offerings with building commissioning services across the state. Rice & Gardner brings significant expertise in K-12 education, including their very first client, the Houston Independent School District.

We are excited about this new affiliation and the resulting benefits for our clients.

Link to original press release:

<https://projectcontrol.com/news-resources/rice-gardner-consultants-joins-project-control/>

