

Transystems acquires Chicago-based Omega

January 13, 2022

TranSystems Corp., a national transportation consulting firm that provides engineering, architectural, planning and construction solutions, acquires OMEGA & Associates, Inc., an industry-leading engineering firm providing consulting services throughout the greater Chicago area.

Established in 2002, OMEGA specializes in construction engineering and program management services. Its team has provided engineering for a variety of major projects —from large-scale expressway and tollway projects to multi-million-dollar roadway, bridges and water/utility construction projects.

“The combination of TranSystems’ Chicago presence with OMEGA creates a top consulting firm in Chicago serving the full transportation marketplace,” said TranSystems CEO Richard Morsches. “We look forward to leveraging OMEGA’s construction and program management expertise to our clients we serve in Chicago and nationally.”

OMEGA’s 80-person infrastructure team will join TranSystems national 900-person workforce.

“Our combined exemplary reputations in Chicago create a powerful team,” said Chandra Prasad, CEO of OMEGA & Associates, Inc. “We’ll be able to serve our clients even better. It’s also a great opportunity for our staffs to thrive and further develop.”

Sentinel Capital Partners continues to team with TranSystems to expand its presence in the infrastructure industry. AEC Advisors LLC initiated the transaction and advised OMEGA.
