July 20, 2022

EN Engineering is pleased to announce that it has signed a definitive agreement to acquire FiberRise Communications, LLC. The transaction is expected to close in August.

We are excited about the partnership with FiberRise, an innovator in providing grid modernization and broadband consulting and engineering services to help electric cooperatives and utility companies provide people, families, businesses, and schools access to modern technology that helps them thrive.

Adam Biggam, CEO of EN Engineering, said, “We couldn’t be happier with the upcoming addition of FiberRise to the EN family. This partnership will further strengthen our focus on supporting utility clients with grid modernization, internal network development, and fiber expansion.”

“From the beginning, FiberRise has been dedicated to empowering electric utilities through our innovative use of fiber to positively transform the lives of their communities. Our partnership with EN Engineering strengthens our commitment to the electric utility market while allowing us to grow at scale, expand our footprint, and broaden our service offerings,” said Jaxon Lang, CEO of FiberRise. “We’re delighted to join a company that is focused on a market we are honored to serve.”
