

IMEG acquires Colorado firm North Line GIS

April 12, 2022

IMEG Corp. has acquired North Line GIS, a full-service GIS firm in Breckenridge, CO.

Founded in 2006, North Line GIS offers data and application development, consulting services, field collections with GPS and UAS (drones), and training. The firm is also an Eos GPS retailer and an Esri Business Partner. The team specializes in ArcGIS Implementations from ArcGIS Online to ArcGIS Enterprise and ArcGIS Pro and has served a variety of different markets including public and private organizations.

“We’re very pleased to add North Line’s GIS specialists to our staff,” said Pat Eikenberry, IMEG Vice President of Civil Engineering. “They will incorporate their expertise into IMEG’s civil offerings, working with clients through the lifecycle of their GIS needs from initial developments to custom integrations.”

Doing business as North Line GIS, now IMEG, the team will be under the leadership of Taylor Goertz, recently named client executive of IMEG’s Colorado-based civil team. The new Breckenridge location complements IMEG’s continued growth in the Mountain region.
