

Johnson Engineering acquires Naples-based surveying company

August 29, 2022

Johnson Engineering Inc. acquired Naples-based Marco Surveying & Mapping in a move to enhance its surveying services. The acquisition will add 11 surveying and mapping staff to the Johnson Engineering team, in addition to surveying records and equipment. Marco Surveying & Mapping founder and President David Hyatt and his team will transition into the Johnson Engineering team and will work from the company's Naples office. Founded in 1946, Johnson Engineering began as a surveying and mapping firm and provides a range of civil engineering services with expertise in civil engineering, surveying and mapping, GIS, site development, utilities, water resources, environmental, transportation, electrical, planning and landscape architecture services. The firm has offices in Fort Myers, Naples, Port Charlotte, LaBelle, Clewiston, and Lutz.
