

LAB Is Joining Forces With MKSK

September 8, 2022

We have some big news to share: Landscape Architecture Bureau is joining forces with MKSK, a design practice headquartered in Columbus, OH with a number of studios located throughout the Midwest and Eastern Seaboard. We're looking forward to collaborating with the talented and dynamic team at MKSK's studios in Columbus, Chicago, Indianapolis, Lafayette, Cincinnati, Louisville, Detroit, Cleveland, Atlanta, Greenville and Orlando.

LAB's Founding Principal, Jonathan Fitch, Principals Tim Bragan and Joe Chambers, along with the design team—Melissa Block, Gaëlle Gourmelon, Alexandra Lemke, Ainsley Rhodes, Erin Schregardus, Xibei Song and Lyn Wenzel—will continue to provide innovative design work and wonderful service from our office on Capitol Hill under the banner of MKSK. As one firm we will be able to offer an expanded range of design services that includes planning and urban design in addition to project-scale landscape architecture.

At MKSK, Jonathan Fitch will advise on the design direction of projects around the country: "I plan to use my continuing passion for creating authentic urban places to advocate for the redemptive and energizing power of memorable landscapes in our cities." Carrying on as MKSK's DC Design Principal, Tim Bragan will ensure that our team continues to deliver the innovative and elegant design solutions that have always distinguished LAB as a leading design firm. Joe Chambers, in addition to his continued involvement in projects across the mid-Atlantic, will become a leader in MKSK's research and sustainability practice.

Link to original press release:

<https://www.labindc.com/b-mksk-lab>