

Expanding our services to include structural engineering

September 12, 2022

RTM Engineering Consultants is pleased to announce its recent acquisition of KNA Structural Engineers, a structural engineering consulting firm based in Irvine, Calif. With this merger, RTM will now have the capabilities of offering a full range of mechanical, electrical, plumbing, fire protection, civil engineering, and structural engineering services to clients nationwide.

“We are thrilled to be merging with the KNA team, allowing us the opportunity to offer our clients and partners expanded services, while also strengthening our presence on the West Coast,” says RTM CEO Tony Mirchandani. “The reputation that the KNA team has developed in their local markets is unmatched and I’m looking forward to seeing the new opportunities and challenging projects we will be able to embark on together.”

Established in 1996, KNA Structural Engineers provides full-service structural engineering design including seismic rehabilitation, building renovations/modernizations, and structural investigations for facilities within the educational, government, civic, healthcare, and commercial markets. KNA has built strong relationships with their clients over the years with a collaborative approach based on integrity, open communication, and responsiveness. These core tenets align directly with RTM’s values, making the transition for the KNA team seamless and full of opportunity. In addition,

RTM’s expanded team of 280+ engineering professionals, now located in 18 offices across the country and licensed in all 50 states, provides “National Resources and Local Relationships” to our growing client base.
