Sambatek Acquired Commercial Site Design

Natick, MA (October 18, 2022) – Sambatek, a civil engineering, surveying, planning, and environmental firm, acquired Commercial Site Design (CSD), a civil engineering and land surveying firm located in Raleigh, North Carolina. CSD provides land development services to small and mid-size projects with a special emphasis on quick-serve restaurants, fast-casual diners, and retail stores.

“We are excited to welcome Commercial Site Design to the Sambatek Team,” said Corey Bergman, Sambatek’s Chief Growth Officer. “At Sambatek, we believe in going above and beyond to create value for our clients, CSD shares the same commitment. This acquisition will benefit both firms by expanding our resources, expertise, and our market and geographic reach.”

Brian Soltz, founding managing partner of CSD, mentioned “Since our inception in 2002, we built a niche firm that provides value-added nimble multi-unit rollout development services for small to mid-sized projects. We believe Sambatek’s leadership, vision, and management infrastructure align perfectly with our aspirations to take care of our clients in North Carolina and beyond.”

As Sambatek’s clients grow and successfully expand into new markets and geographic areas, they have asked Sambatek to continue to provide its services in those new territories. Therefore, Sambatek is focused on a national growth strategy joining hands with reputable local firms from across the country. It will enable Sambatek to continue to serve its clients nationwide at the highest level.

Morrissey Goodale, a specialized management consulting and research firm exclusively serving the architecture, engineering, and environmental consulting industries, initiated the transaction and advised Sambatek.
