

VHB + HG Design Studio joining forces

October 3, 2022

HG Design Studio has pursued a new, exciting opportunity and we are eager to share the news! Effective October 3, we have joined forces with VHB, a national leader in providing integrated consulting services.

During and after this transition, please know that your goals remain our top priority. We are dedicated to continuing to provide the same personal service, responsiveness, and reliability that you've always received from our team. The names and faces you have come to know and trust have not changed, and neither have our service offerings of landscape architecture, water resources, civil engineering, and land planning.

In fact, we are looking forward to the future with our new colleagues and the opportunities on the horizon to provide differentiating solutions that positively impact our clients and communities. We have partnered with VHB on numerous metro-Richmond projects and through these interactions discovered alignment between our firms that includes a focus on quality, integration of services, approach to economic vitality, and environmental stewardship.
