HSA Consulting Group was acquired on October 10, 2022 by Columbia Engineering and Services, Inc., headquartered in Duluth, GA. HSA Consulting Group will now go by HSA Columbia. Columbia Engineering is a professional services civil engineering firm providing transportation design, transportation planning, traffic engineering and operations, traffic operations design, water resources, landscape architecture, park design, survey, land development, and construction inspection.

This acquisition provides additional staff and depth of resources to HSA Columbia, expanding our offerings to Florida clients. HSA Columbia staff will enhance Columbia Engineering's services in the areas of transportation planning, lighting design, data collection, and GIS. Together, we will continue the legacy that began with the founding of HSA in 1991 by Gay H. Smith, and to embrace her guiding principles of high quality standards, integrity, technology driven, employee empowerment, and a family atmosphere.

HSA Columbia is excited for this opportunity for growth and additional resources. We look forward to continuing to serve our clients, doing the job right, and always striving to exceed expectations.
