

CT Consultants expands to southeastern Michigan with acquisition

December 19, 2022

CT Consultants Inc., the engineering, architectural and planning consultancy in Mentor, Ohio, has acquired TTL Associates Inc. for undisclosed terms.

TTL Associates in Toledo, Ohio, was established in 1927 as Toledo Testing Laboratory and offers environmental, geotechnical engineering, industrial hygiene, materials testing and drilling services, CT Consultants said in a statement.

In addition to its headquarters office in Toledo, TTL serves local, regional and federal clients from offices in Cleveland; Plymouth, Michigan, and Washington, D.C., CT Consultants said.

TTL Associates' services complement CT Consultants' professional planning, engineering and architectural design services, the Mentor-based company said.

The acquisition also enables CT Consultants to expand to southeastern Michigan, the firm said. "The long history and unparalleled service of TTL Associates was a significant part in making this merger happen," said Dave Wiles, president of CT Consultants, in the firm's statement.

Tom Uhler, CEO of TTL Associates, established the testing laboratory as a full-service environmental, testing and geotechnical engineering firm with in-house certified laboratories and drilling services in 2003, according to the firm's LinkedIn page.
