December 1, 2022

Combination builds upon a joint legacy of service, innovation and growth to deliver mission critical data center services to a global customer base.

Salute Mission Critical, a global data center services provider, announces the acquisition of Iconicx Critical Solutions, a provider of commissioning, testing and consulting services for data centers and mission critical environments. Through this strategic acquisition, Salute will expand its capabilities in commissioning and quality assurance/quality control (“QA/QC”), helping its customers eliminate risks and optimize the handoff from deployment to operations.

“I am thrilled to bring our two companies together. Salute’s holistic approach to critical facility management offers a breadth of on-site functions to ensure optimal staffing, efficiency and best-in-class service. The ability to partner with a leading QA/QC firm will elevate Salute’s operational capabilities. In addition, our shared approach of enabling technology to reduce costs and risks for our clients will drive even greater value to the industry and our clients,” says Salute Mission Critical CEO, Jason Okroy.

Iconicx is a leading commissioning and QA/QC provider in the U.S. with strong relationships across hyperscale and colocation data center customers. Iconicx serves as a true partner to its customers with its focus on the highest quality customer service and technical knowledge. Commissioning and QA/QC are critical services at deployment as well as when retrofitting existing environments to ensure 24x7 uptime regardless of the pace of change.

“Iconicx takes great pride in our work. We value innovation, adaptability, integrity and commitment to quality – core values that we share with Salute. We are excited about what this combination will mean not only for our customers, but also for our employees, as this partnership will bring expanded opportunities to our team,” says Iconicx Co-founder, Stefanie Crichton.
