The firms will be able to capitalize on each other's strengths to serve their existing clients and markets and expand that service to new clients and markets.

"This partnership will benefit our clients and our staff. PWG's deep technical knowledge and their prowess and capabilities in utilizing technology in the design process are areas we are looking forward to enhancing in our own capabilities. They are great practitioners, very experienced, very talented people that are going to really benefit all of us here at BDG," said Chris Kirschner, President of BDG Architects.

Brent Parker, President of Parker Walter Group added, "We're extremely excited to join this team. It gives us the ability to have some continuity, particularly to service our clients.
