

Houston-area PRD Land Development Services acquires American Civil Engineering Services

February 8, 2023

Houston-area civil engineering firm PRD Land Development Services, LLC has expanded with the acquisition of American Civil Engineering Services, adding an office in Conroe, Texas.

“I am pleased with the firm’s recent growth,” said Trent Perez, owner of PRD Land Development Services. “Adding ACES’ combined 20 years of talent and experience will bolster our comprehensive service capabilities to new and existing clients. This acquisition will allow PRD to service the local needs of Montgomery County. PRD’s success has always been attributed to the team’s unique dedication to the community we share.”

PRD was founded in 2015. The company has managed a diverse list of projects, including municipal infrastructure, higher education, public facilities, competitive athletics field design, commercial and residential subdivision and commercial industries including civic, healthcare, industrial office and retail.

Link to original press release:

<https://rejournal.com/houston-area-prd-land-development-services-acquires-american-civil-engineering-services/>