Passero Associates announces expansion of transportation planning and traffic engineering services with the addition of SRF Associates

Passero Associates is proud to announce the expansion of its transportation planning and traffic engineering services with the addition of SRF Associates. This strategic move allows Passero Associates to expand its capabilities in transportation planning, traffic engineering, and design, and to further its commitment to provide innovative solutions for clients.

SRF Associates, a well-respected firm in the industry for more than 30 years, has built a reputation for providing comprehensive transportation planning, traffic engineering, and design services. With this acquisition, Passero Associates is able to leverage SRF Associates' expertise and experience, enhancing its transportation planning and traffic engineering services, and providing their own clients with a wider range of services and a deeper pool of talent.

"This is a tremendous opportunity for SRF Associates to join forces with Passero Associates, a highly respected firm in the industry," said Amy Dake, of SRF Associates. "Together, we are able to offer a broader range of services and expertise to our clients, while continuing to deliver the same high level of quality and service for which both firms are known."

The addition of SRF Associates complements Passero Associates' existing transportation planning and traffic engineering services, which include traffic studies, signal design, roundabout design, and complete streets design. With these expanded capabilities provided by SRF Associates, Passero Associates is well-positioned to deliver high-quality, innovative transportation solutions to its clients.

"We are excited to welcome SRF Associates to Passero Associates," said Jess Sudol, President of Passero Associates. "This move allows us to further strengthen our transportation planning and traffic engineering services, and to better serve our clients with innovative and sustainable solutions."
