

Godspeed Capital-Backed Stratus Acquires Synalovski Romanik Saye

September 5, 2023

Godspeed Capital Management LP (“Godspeed Capital”), a lower middle-market Defense & Government services, solutions, and technology focused private equity firm, today announced the successful acquisition of Synalovski Romanik Saye Architects (“SRS” or the “firm”), a Florida-based, full-service design firm specializing in architectural and interior design, planning, development, construction, and contract management services. Under the terms of the acquisition, SRS will join Zyscovich, Inc. (“Zyscovich”), the industry leading, Florida-based architecture and design brand operating within Stratus, Godspeed Capital’s multidisciplinary engineering, architecture, and consulting platform.

Based in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, SRS brings over three decades of architectural and interior design, planning, development, construction, and contract management expertise to the Stratus platform. The firm maintains a reputation as one of Florida’s leading full-service design firms with a growing bilingual workforce that has enabled it to succeed in some of the state’s leading projects. Since its founding in 1988, SRS has served 44 municipalities on over 380 projects throughout the State of Florida and developed projects in Connecticut, Texas, Illinois, and Puerto Rico.

“We are thrilled to be joining the Stratus platform where we will bring our own deep expertise to bear across the broader group,” said Manny Synalovski, Founder and Managing Principal of SRS. “Stratus has developed a leading reputation within the broader industry and has access to an unparalleled network of expertise and talent from which to leverage. We look forward to joining forces and continuing to provide our clients with a heightened level of quality care that they’ve become accustomed to, now with additional resources, capabilities, and services.”

Jose Murguido, President of Zyscovich, Inc., commented, “SRS has created strong momentum for its business and adds unique areas of focus and expertise to Zyscovich, while complementing our growing business in the Southeastern US. We look forward to working closely with Manny and his talented team to combine our development expertise and further enhance our ability to support clients in achieving their strategic objectives.”
