

Pape-Dawson Engineers Announces Partnership With Costello

September 5, 2023

Pape-Dawson Engineers has partnered with Costello as part of its strategy to grow its industry-leading civil engineering practice within Texas and across the United States.

Established in 1991, Costello is a Houston-based civil engineering and surveying firm with 195 employees between Houston and Austin. The firm's impressive resume includes numerous water and wastewater facilities, master drainage plans, residential developments, and transportation projects. The partnership brings expanded capabilities to Pape-Dawson clients, including landscape architecture and structural services.

"Costello's reputation in the civil engineering industry and its consistent status as one of Houston's Best Places to Work are both testaments to the values and success of the company's leadership," said Pape-Dawson CEO, Sam Dawson. "This partnership provides added resources and expertise to better serve our combined client base in one of the largest cities in the nation."

"Costello is thrilled to join the Pape-Dawson family," said Dustin O'Neal, President/CEO of Costello. "We are excited to expand our capabilities, strengthen our commitment to serving our clients, and provide even more opportunities to our outstanding team members. Together, we are the premier firm in the state of Texas."

Link to original press release:

<https://www.pape-dawson.com/pape-dawson-announces-partnership-with-costello/>