October 2, 2023

Giovanetti Shulman Associates Consulting Engineers (GSA) of Broomall, PA, a mechanical, electrical, plumbing, fire protection, and low voltage engineering firm, has joined IMEG. The merger with GSA enhances IMEG's existing services in the Philadelphia region and national gaming portfolio.

Founded in 1982 by Richard Giovanetti and Mark Shulman, GSA has provided sustainable engineering design services on a wide variety of projects in the entertainment, commercial, cultural, education, and healthcare markets, among others. As the firm grew, the two founders created a highly technical team supported by a great staff including Connie Giovanetti.

"We are excited to add the team from GSA and deepen our bench of expertise, particular in the gaming and entertainment industries," said IMEG President/CEO Paul VanDuyne. "Their passion for the built environment, along with their creative and technical skills, are vital characteristics that match IMEG's own priorities."
