

TRC Companies, Inc. Acquires Advanced Civil Technologies (ACT), Expanding Highway Design, Public Works and Transportation Services in Southern California

October 9, 2023

Today TRC Companies (TRC), an environmentally focused and digitally powered global solutions firm, announced the expansion of its transportation capabilities with the acquisition of Advanced Civil Technologies (ACT). Founded in 1996, ACT is a leader in project/program management, highway design, water quality, and planning and project initiation for large-scale transportation projects in Southern California.

“ACT adds strength to our transportation offerings and broadens our ability to assist clients in Southern California,” said Christopher Vincze, Chairman and CEO of TRC. “The Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act ushered in a renewed emphasis on addressing transportation in the U.S., and ACT will help us meet the needs in California with a focus on climate change, resilience, and safety.”

ACT has partnered with numerous agencies, including Orange County Transportation Authority, LA Metro, San Bernardino County Transportation Authority, Riverside County Transportation Commission, Federal Highway Administration, and various Caltrans districts. ACT has provided innovative solutions to major transportation challenges that expedite schedules and significantly reduce project costs.

“ACT and TRC are well positioned to help our clients in California address infrastructure challenges in a sustainable and environmentally conscious way,” said Todd Wager, President of Infrastructure at TRC. “We are excited to welcome ACT to the TRC family. We share a common culture and commitment to enhancing roadways and transportation networks for the communities we serve.”

ACT’s CEO Jamal Salman added: “Our transportation expertise compliments TRC’s deep engineering and environmental skills. Clients can expect to see numerous benefits with broadened capabilities, specialized resources, and internationally recognized expertise.”
