

Watcon Joins Top ENR Firm Verdantas, Strengthening its Civil Engineering Services

November 7, 2023

Verdantas, a private-equity-backed firm specializing in sustainable engineering and environmental services, is excited to announce its strategic acquisition of Watcon Consulting Engineers (Watcon), a highly respected company known for its outstanding civil engineering related services across the central Ohio region. Watcon's expertise spans water/sanitary/storm systems, street/roadway design, site evaluation, land planning, and a comprehensive suite of surveying services, including topographic, boundary, ALTA, and construction staking.

Jesse Kropelnicki, Chief Executive Officer of Verdantas, emphasized, "This acquisition is a great fit for both organizations, reaffirming Verdantas' dedication to delivering exceptional services while broadening its capabilities. Notably, this acquisition is particularly special as it was driven organically by long-standing local relationships within the Verdantas team, reflecting the trust and synergy that underpins our leadership approach and vision for growth forward."

Ashley Chang, Vice President at RTC Partners, remarked, "The inclusion of Watcon brings a wealth of additional experienced leadership and resources into Ohio, positioning Verdantas to continue its growth in that market."

The union of Verdantas and Watcon represents a stride forward for both companies and underscores our shared commitment to excellence and delivering unmatched services to our local clients while Verdantas continues to expand its national footprint.

Link to original press release:

<https://www.verdantas.com/news/watcon-acquisition>