

Hillmann Acquires Abraxas Energy Consulting

February 1, 2024

Hillmann Consulting, LLC, is thrilled to announce the successful acquisition of Abraxas Energy Consulting. Abraxas is a respected partner in the Energy Efficiency, Consulting, & Auditing industry. This strategic move represents a significant milestone in Hillmann's growth and expansion strategy.

The acquisition of Abraxas is a testament to Hillmann's commitment to enhancing its position as a market leader and delivering exceptional value to its clients, partners, and shareholders. This acquisition will result in a powerful synergy that leverages the strengths and resources of both companies to drive innovation and provide even better solutions to meet the evolving needs of our clients.

Hillmann's CEO, Chris Hillmann, expressed his enthusiasm for the acquisition, stating, "We are excited to welcome Abraxas into the Hillmann family of companies. Their team aligns perfectly with our stated purpose of making a better future for all the communities we touch. This strategic move also aligns with our long-term vision and allows us to diversify our service offerings and expand our client base. We are confident that this acquisition will lead to exciting opportunities for growth and innovation within our firm and lead to a more seamless experience for our clients looking for one provider of multiple Due Diligence, Development Management, and Construction solutions."

Abraxas' President, John Avina, added, "We are pleased to join forces with Hillmann, a company with a proven track record of excellence. Like Hillmann, our reputation is and will continue to be most important to us. The Abraxas team is excited to continue serving our existing clients with an enhanced ability to help more clients, building owners, and stakeholders with their energy efficiency and sustainability needs."
