

RVi Planning + Landscape Architecture acquires Anderson Design, expanding landscape architecture and design capabilities in the Southwest

April 4, 2024

RVi Planning + Landscape Architecture has acquired award-winning Anderson Design to add strength and experience to its team and services in Arizona and Texas. With a focus on land planning, landscape architecture, and parks and open space design, RVi has great alignment with Anderson to deliver industry-leading client service based on a collaborative approach. The principals from Anderson and RVi have a long-lasting relationship that spans over 20 years. Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Anderson Design has been widely recognized for work in creating meaningful places designed to spark human connection.

“I couldn’t be more excited about the potential that is in front of us with this opportunity,” said Brett Anderson, founder at Anderson. “It’s special to find high-quality professionals that share a deep commitment to client service and the importance of design that connects with nature and the human experience.”

Anderson and his team will continue to focus on master-planned communities and mixed-use projects.

Chris Crawford, President of RVi said, “We are excited about the shared vision and dedication to client partnership that Anderson Design will bring to our team. It’s a unique opportunity to add such talent in key markets that will enhance the outstanding work being done already.”
