

LJA Expands Services in West Texas with addition of Team from Delta Land Surveying

April 25, 2024

LJA Engineering, Inc., a recognized national leader in the land development market, proudly announces its expansion in Lubbock, Texas with the integration of a 20-person team from Delta Land Surveying and Engineering (Delta), into LJA Surveying, Inc., LJA's wholly-owned subsidiary. The Delta team's addition will bolster LJA's in-house survey practice in the Lubbock region and underscores the firm's commitment to supporting client projects in West Texas.

Timothy Barry, RPLS, one of Delta's Principal Owners, expressed enthusiasm about the collaboration, stating, "Joining forces with LJA presents an exceptional opportunity for our team to grow, collaborate with industry experts, and explore new avenues for professional development. We are thrilled about the integration and look forward to the exciting journey ahead."

Jeremy Russell, RPLS, LJA Surveying's President, echoed Barry's comments, emphasizing the significance of this integration for both organizations. "We are delighted to welcome the talented team from Delta into the LJA family. This strategic move not only expands our footprint in West Texas but also reinforces our commitment to providing exceptional services to our clients. We are excited about the possibilities this integration brings and eager to leverage our combined strengths for continued success."

LJA has established a national reputation for its excellence in land development, supported by comprehensive in-house survey capabilities. The company's expansion of the survey business underscores its dedication to meeting the evolving needs of clients while maintaining its position as an industry leader.
