

EcoAmmo Joins Stok to Deliver a Radically Better World

May 1, 2024

We're excited to announce that EcoAmmo, a leading Canadian sustainability consultancy and fellow B Corp and ILFI Just organization, has joined Stok. Our organizations share a common belief that a radically better world for all is not only possible, but we have a duty to ensure it. Combining our businesses will enable us to achieve our mission to accelerate the transition to a resilient, climate-positive future.

Over the past two decades, EcoAmmo has helped transition the world toward sustainability by delivering high-performing sustainable buildings, ESG, carbon, Integrated Project Delivery (IPD), and high-performing teams consulting. The award-winning, purpose-driven organization has led the way in transforming the architecture, engineering, and construction industry across Canada, with the first Net Zero Energy commercial building, the first Net Zero Energy home, and the first Integrated Project Delivery project in Western Canada.

"We have always focused on building an intentional culture centered on delivering maximum value to our clients. This step for our organization reinforces our commitment to be our clients' partner in passionately working toward bold goals, now with expanded solutions through Stok's comprehensive suite of services. Our shared commitment to self-managed organizational structure enables a seamless client experience as we merge into one Stok." -Stephani Carter, Founder and Owner, EcoAmmo

As EcoAmmo joins Stok's global team of real estate and decarbonization experts, our clients will benefit from strengthened capabilities across sustainability, ESG, carbon, and materials consulting services, as well as new expertise in Integrated Project Delivery. In the near future, we plan to bring a powerful set of engineering services to clients in Canada, inclusive of energy engineering and commissioning. These deepened capabilities, expanded services, and new geographic reach will help Stok lead organizations to achieve their goals and decarbonize now.

"Stok and EcoAmmo have known each other for many years and collaborated on initiatives to move our industry forward. Our integration is an organic evolution that furthers our ability to deliver urgent, innovative solutions to our clients' most pressing challenges across sustainability, ESG, and decarbonization. Now is the time to make bold moves and we're thrilled to have found a purpose-aligned organization to deliver our shared vision with." -Jacob Arlein, CEO, Stok

EcoAmmo will rebrand as Stok while continuing to serve clients throughout Canada under a new legal entity, Stok Canada Ltd. Stephani Carter, founder of EcoAmmo, will join the Stok ownership group.
