OHM Advisors Acquires Griner Engineering, Inc.

Acquisition strategically enhances MEP capabilities and expands the firm's presence in the southern United States

[LIVONIA, MICHIGAN] – OHM Advisors, a leading architecture, engineering and planning firm, today announced the acquisition of Griner Engineering. This strategic move represents a significant investment in the continued growth of OHM Advisors' mechanical, electrical and plumbing engineering services and expands OHM Advisors' presence in St. Petersburg, FL and Sevierville, TN, enabling the firm to bring its community advancement services to new markets.

"What excites me most about this acquisition is the shared passion of our team members for delivering exceptional solutions for clients and delivering innovative, people-focused designs and ideas that drive whole communities forward," said Jon Kramer, president of OHM Advisors. "By combining our talents and expertise, we are well-positioned to meet our mission of advancing communities today, tomorrow and for generations to come."

Founded in 1968, Griner Engineering is a highly respected firm that serves a wide range of clients, including municipal, educational, commercial and industrial sectors nationwide.

"We are very excited to become part of the OHM team," said Joe Griner, president of Griner Engineering. "This acquisition helps OHM meet its goal of doubling the number of MEP experts and increasing the number of clients we can serve."

OHM Advisors' diverse, mission-driven team works collaboratively across multiple disciplines, including architecture, municipal, environmental and transportation engineering, planning, urban design and construction services to create better places for people to live and work.

The acquisition closed on October 7, 2024, and this is the date on which Joe Griner and his team officially joined OHM Advisors.
