

BETTER, TOGETHER: INTEGRATED GROUPS FOR HOLISTIC PIPELINE MANAGEMENT SERVICES

November 27, 2023

In 2023, ADV Integrity acquired another leading player in the industry: HT Engineering. This acquisition resulted in ADV forming four distinct groups that serve the pipeline integrity management industry with different specializations: full-scale testing, materials engineering, advanced engineering & analysis, and pipeline integrity & design. These four groups are working together, supporting and augmenting one other's capabilities and capacities to better serve clients and ensure safe pipeline operations and effective integrity investments.

Integrated Competencies for Better Results

ADV Integrity's acquisition of HT Engineering has brought together four specialized teams set to offer a full suite of holistic, comprehensive solutions to clients. For example, validated data from full-scale testing will be used to refine sophisticated engineering models. Advanced metallurgical testing will provide even further insight to these models and improved inputs will result in more useful outputs. A thorough understanding of these models and the engineering principles behind sound integrity management will inform better pipeline engineering and design.

Link to original press release:

<https://htengineering.com/insights/better-together-integrated-groups-for-holistic-pipeline-management-services/>

