

Catalyst Partners Expands Footprint and Deepens Energy Modeling Expertise with Acquisition of Energy Studio

February 03, 2025

Catalyst Partners, a leading sustainability and green building consulting firm, is thrilled to announce its acquisition of Energy Studio, a long-time trusted energy modeling partner based in Omaha, Nebraska. This strategic move enhances Catalyst Partners' position as an innovator in sustainable and high-performance buildings while strengthening its footprint in the Midwest and continuing to expand its reach across the country.

Headquartered in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Catalyst Partners has built a 22-year reputation for expertise in green building certifications, commissioning, and healthy building consulting. The addition of Energy Studio, a firm renowned for energy modeling, aligns seamlessly with Catalyst Partners' mission to advance environmental stewardship and operational excellence.

"We are thrilled to officially welcome Energy Studio to the Catalyst Partners family," said Amanda Brookes, President of Catalyst Partners. "Their expertise, personal connections, and shared commitment to sustainability make this partnership a natural fit. Together, we are poised to help our clients navigate the challenges and identify opportunities in creating sustainable buildings and spaces."

"As ASHRAE standards, LEED requirements, building codes, and advanced technologies evolve toward net-zero aspirations, our expanded team will remain at the forefront, shaping the future, and creating healthier, more sustainable environments."

Energy Studio, established in Omaha, Nebraska, has been a trusted collaborator of Catalyst Partners for many years, contributing to numerous successful projects that have advanced their clients' energy efficiency and sustainability goals. By formally merging, the two firms will leverage their complementary strengths to enhance energy modeling services, broaden their impact, and continue setting the standard for innovation in the green building industry.

"This merger is the natural evolution of our long-standing collaboration," said Amanda Bogner, President of Energy Studio. "By joining forces with Catalyst Partners, we are combining our shared dedication to sustainability and innovation, delivering even greater value to our clients. Together, we will continue to drive meaningful progress in creating high-performance, energy-efficient buildings."

Clients of both Catalyst Partners and Energy Studio can expect a seamless transition, with the same dedication to quality, personalized service, and groundbreaking solutions that have defined their work to date.
