

Celnor Group expands internationally with addition of New-England-based John Turner Consulting

March 13, 2025

We are delighted to announce our international expansion with the addition of New England-based John Turner Consulting (JTC) to the Group. This marks a significant milestone in our growth journey, strengthening our presence beyond the UK and Ireland.

Founded in 1997, John Turner Consulting (JTC), is a multidisciplinary consulting firm that provides geotechnical testing and engineering, materials sampling and analysis, environmental consulting, building sciences, energy consultants, construction engineering, and inspection services. The US based business of 150 colleagues is led by John Turner, Founder and President, who will continue to lead the business.

Headquartered in New Hampshire, JTC operates eight offices/laboratories throughout New England to provide a variety of services to clients throughout the region. The firm serves the healthcare, education, transportation, and infrastructure sectors to support safe and sustainable projects. John's vision has steered JTC from a one-man operation in New Hampshire, to a large and growing firm with technical professionals proudly serving public and private clients in New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Michigan and New York. The company is dedicated to enhancing client satisfaction by continuously improving efficiency, quality, and competitiveness in its services.

Simon Parrington, CEO and Founder of Celnor, highlighted the importance of this acquisition: "JTC represents a pivotal moment for Celnor as we expand our coverage beyond the UK and Ireland. The Group has grown significantly over the past 18 months, enabling us to support over 1,300 colleagues, 5,500 clients and deliver annualised revenues of over £130m. Announcing our international expansion is a fantastic way to start 2025."

John Turner expressed his excitement about the partnership: "I rarely take the time to reflect, but during our annual Manager's summit last February, I was truly in awe of how far we've come and the depth of talent on our team. It's an honour to be part of this amazing group of dedicated professionals. Over the years, many firms have approached me about acquiring JTC, but for the first time, I met someone who truly aligns with our vision. This transition isn't just right for me personally; it will create new, accelerated opportunities for the JTC team."

He continued: "We're excited to partner with Celnor as we enter the next phase of our growth journey. This partnership strengthens our commitment to delivering geotechnical engineering, environmental consulting, inspection services, and multidisciplinary solutions for the construction, infrastructure, and built environment sectors. Our vision is to grow our team of experts and deliver first-class compliance solutions across New England and the U.S."
