March 03, 2025

LJA, a nationally recognized, full-service, multi-disciplinary engineering and consulting firm, is excited to announce the acquisition of Peters and Yaffee, Inc., (P&Y) a highly respected transportation services firm based in Jacksonville, Florida, with an additional office in Denver, Colorado. This strategic move strengthens LJA's presence in Florida and expands its transportation capabilities in key growing regions.

Founded in 2008, P&Y has built a strong reputation for excellence in Transportation Engineering, Traffic Design & Operations, and Traffic & Safety Studies. The firm has worked with more than 100 agencies and firms across North Florida, bringing proven expertise and trusted relationships to the region.

"This partnership is a testament to our success and reputation in the industry," said Dow Peters, PE, Principal and Co-Founder. "The move allows us to continue thriving at the next level while still serving clients with the same dedication. We are excited about this next chapter and the opportunities it brings—not just for us, but for our clients as well."

Now, backed by LJA's expanded resources, deeper proficiency, and a broader network, P&Y is positioned to provide even greater value to clients while maintaining the same commitment to excellence that has defined its success.

"We're welcoming P&Y to build on their strengths, not change them," said James Ross, PE, President and CEO of LJA. "P&Y's expertise in Florida and Colorado, combined with our national presence and resources, creates an even stronger team to serve our clients. We look forward to the opportunities this partnership will bring."

With more than 50 years of experience, LJA has established itself as a leader in engineering, planning, environmental, and survey services, particularly in land development, public works, and transportation. The firm's employee-owned structure, with over 2,600 employee-owners, fosters a culture of innovation and collaboration, driving its continued success.
