

Salas O'Brien welcomes FA Engineering

March 24, 2025

Salas O'Brien announced today that FA Engineering has joined the company, bringing a strong team of technical innovators serving industrial clients across North America.

This strategic merger enhances Salas O'Brien's structural and mechanical engineering, industrial design, and environmental compliance expertise with an expanded team of 3,850 professionals across more than 90 global offices. Based in Pocatello, Idaho, FA Engineering serves industrial clients in mining, mineral processing, food processing, building material processing, and waste treatment.

FA Engineering is a recognized leader in providing customized engineering services, quality designs, and a fulfilling work environment. The team has a long history of delivering streamlined project management services, including concept development, financial projections, and construction support services. FA Engineering's specialized knowledge of industrial engineering and design complements Salas O'Brien's comprehensive services, creating new opportunities for growth and innovation.

Link to original press release:

<https://salasobrien.com/news/faengineering/>

