

Pearce Announces Acquisition of JoeMax Telecom, LLC

April 15, 2025

Pearce, a leading provider of asset management solutions for mission-critical electromechanical infrastructure, today announced that it has acquired JoeMax Telecom LLC (“JoeMax”), a leading provider of engineering, site acquisition, and project management services for the telecommunications industry. The acquisition expands Pearce’s presence in the northeast region and adds new technical capabilities. Terms of the acquisition were not disclosed.

For more than 20 years, JoeMax has supported customers in New Jersey, New York, and Connecticut in upgrading and maintaining outside plant (OSP) and inside plant (ISP) fiber infrastructure. The company provides customers with a turnkey solution including fiber optic route design, engineering, permitting, inspections, program management, right-of-way management, and network maintenance.

“We are thrilled to welcome the JoeMax employees to the Pearce family. The company has an excellent reputation and is clearly a best-in-class service provider”, said Michael Wolf, President of Telecom & UPS at Pearce. “The JoeMax team brings tremendous knowledge in key urban markets and, together with Pearce, will provide customers with a comprehensive suite of engineering and asset management services.”

“I have been impressed by the Pearce team and the scale and success of the company they have built,” said Larry Williams, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of JoeMax Telecom. “We share a strong cultural alignment with Pearce and an unwavering dedication to support our employees, customers, and the communities in which we live. We are excited to start working with the Pearce team and looking forward to the next chapter in our company’s history.”
