

Salas O'Brien welcomes Chavez-Grieves, bringing 45 years of structural excellence

March 31, 2025

Salas O'Brien announced today that Chavez-Grieves Consulting Engineers has joined the company, bringing more than 45 years of experience in structural engineering, investigative engineering, and project management. This strategic partnership expands our collective ability to deliver resilient, sustainable structures for high-demand sectors like data centers, healthcare, and government.

The Chavez-Grieves team unites design and management skills with advanced technology, individual expertise, and collaboration to ensure efficient and timely project delivery. Their structural insight complements Salas O'Brien's multidisciplinary capabilities, creating a seamless experience for clients requiring integrated engineering solutions.
