

VHB Expands New Jersey Presence, Welcoming Hammer Land Engineering

April 28, 2025

Strategic acquisition enhances VHB's land development capabilities in Northeast.

VHB is joining forces with Hammer Land Engineering, a prominent civil engineering firm based in Manasquan, New Jersey, effective today. This strategic move will significantly enhance VHB's land development services across New Jersey and the broader Northeast region, providing clients with expanded resources and experience.

Hammer has been a cornerstone in the land development industry for 15 years, fostering a reputation for delivering successful projects across multiple sectors, including industrial, residential, commercial, solar, healthcare, and educational. Their projects have positively impacted numerous communities, contributing to economic growth and environmental stewardship throughout New Jersey.

“Integrating Hammer’s extensive experience and strong client relationships into VHB will enhance our land development capabilities and broaden our impact in New Jersey,” said Joe Pizzurro, VHB Northeast Regional Manager. “Hammer’s technical capabilities, combined with our multidisciplinary approach, allow us to deliver smarter, more efficient solutions that support sustainable and resilient communities.”

Joe Hanrahan, current Principal of Hammer will transition to VHB's leadership team as the New Jersey Director of Land Development, bringing more than 35 years of experience of land development engineering experience in New Jersey. He will collaborate closely with Courtney Riley, Northeast Land Development Service Lead, and Brian Perry, New Jersey Managing Director, to strengthen VHB’s land development team across the Northeast region.

“Joining forces with VHB provides our team with access to a broader range of resources, enhancing our ability to deliver high-quality services to our clients,” said Joe Hanrahan. “We are excited about the growth opportunities this partnership brings and the positive impacts we can make together.”

By combining strengths, VHB is well-positioned to drive innovation, foster stronger client partnerships, and deliver impactful results across key markets.
