AG&E Acquires McCluskey Engineering Corporation (MEC)

Natick, MA (July 14, 2025) – AG&E, a Dallas-based structural engineering firm serving the mission critical, aviation, and advanced manufacturing markets, acquired McCluskey Engineering Corporation (MEC), a structural engineering firm specialized in precast engineering.

This strategic move enhances AG&E's capabilities in precast, prestressed services, and positions the firm for continued growth and innovation as the largest data center structural engineer in the United States.

As part of the acquisition, AG&E welcomes Doug Colclasure, PE, SE, Co-President of MEC, to the leadership team. Doug will continue to lead the new Naperville Office of AG&E as Executive Principal, further strengthening its expertise and commitment to client service.

"We are thrilled to welcome Doug and his staff to our growing practice of integrated precast engineering and EOR design for data centers," said Sanjay Agrawal, PE, SE, Chief Executive Officer of AG&E. "Doug is an experienced precast engineer and brings very timely augmentation of AG&E's precast engineering resources. We look forward to a great future with Doug."
