Consertus Acquires Program Controls, Inc.

Natick, MA (July 15, 2026) – Consertus, Inc., a global capital program management and advisory firm providing innovative digital, consulting, and project delivery solutions that power successful capital programs worldwide, acquired Program Controls, Inc. (PCI), a professional engineering consulting firm with experience in the aviation, water, port, transportation, education, and commercial sectors.

Headquartered in Miami, Florida, and supported by a global team of more than 1,200 full-time professionals, Consertus operates across the United States, Puerto Rico, the United Kingdom, the Middle East, South America, and India. Serving a diverse international client base across sectors including transportation, healthcare, energy, utilities, government, telecommunications, and manufacturing, Consertus delivers customized digital, advisory, engineering and design, and delivery solutions that help clients achieve their strategic objectives.

Founded in 2002, PCI is a professional engineering firm providing Program Management, Controls and Construction services to public sector clients and agencies in Florida and Texas. It is one of the few firms with complete focus on all controls aspects of large programs. PCI has been involved with some of the biggest capital and infrastructure improvement undertakings in aviation, port, education, transit and transportation, utility infrastructure, and commercial sectors.

Morrissey Goodale, a specialized management consulting and research firm exclusively serving the architecture, engineering, and environmental consulting industries, initiated the transaction and advised Consertus.
